

PORTLAND MARKETS

Latest Quotations in the Portland Produce Markets.

Complete Market Reports Corrected Each Day Giving the Wholesale Prices of Commodities, Farm Produce and Vegetables.

Portland, Aug. 7.—Large consignments of peaches, plums, watermelons, cantaloupes and muskmelons are expected all week, though the Oregon peach crop is said to be light this year. Receipts of Oregon potatoes are large up town, though wholesale merchants are doing little business. The potatoes are not considered sufficiently matured to ship any distance, and so the local demand is all that can be depended on to get rid of the surplus.

Cream becomes more scarce from day to day, as a result of pastures drying up, and the quotations on fancy creamery are considered firm.

Chickens were not in heavy receipt today, and dealers were glad of it, as the retail market seems to be pretty well supplied for the present.

California muskmelons have appeared on the market, but their condition on arrival has not been conducive to heavy sales.

Egg quotations are weak, as a result of heavy receipts of Eastern eggs, which sell at 1 to 2 cents lower than the home product.
